Mayor's Message

Our City Council Chambers has been getting a much needed face lift. With the new paint, I would like to add a collage of old pictures to the walls. If you have pictures that show the history of Culver and don't mind them being copied please bring them to city hall in an envelope with your name and address on it. I will enlarge them and return them back to you. If anyone has pictures of past Mayors that could be copied also I would like to get as many as possible with the years they served to also add to the Council Chambers. I think having the history of our city in pictures would be a wonderful addition to the walls of city hall.

Following is some history of Culver that I found online from the Oregon Encyclopedia at <https://oregonencyclopedia.org/articles/culver/> "The town of Culver, north of Haystack Butte in south-central Jefferson County, had its beginnings as Perryville in the 1880s. It was named after Perry Read, who established a stage station on the road to Prineville. By 1900, the settlement had a store, a school, a blacksmith shop, and a hotel; and in that year O.G. Collver applied for a post-office, which was granted under the simplified name of Culver.

In about 1909, with the coming of railroad lines into central Oregon a certainty, the city fathers of Culver moved their town six miles west to Dan Swift's homestead site, north of Juniper Butte, where it would intercept the railroad. J.C. Cockerham and William C. Barber are generally reckoned as the fathers of the "new" Culver. When the first Oregon Trunk train came through on April 15, 1911, the relocated town was there to greet it."

Have a wonderful February.
